

STONE FULLY EXPLAINS MARKETING PLAN

Bingham Unable To Come To Talk To Growers So Ex-
Madisonian Speaks

Madison county growers were somewhat disappointed when it was learned that Judge Robert W. Bingham was unable to get here for the speech on the tobacco situation that he had been advertised for Monday afternoon. However, they heard a splendid address and clear-cut exposition of the co-operative marketing plan from James C. Stone, one of the favorite sons of old Madison.

Mr. Stone is vice chairman of the big farmers' movement, and he explained it completely and thoroughly.

Mr. Stone said in part: "Only the farmer is to blame for the low price he is forced to accept for his product from the manufacturers. He is the only man who is forced to pay the sellers' prices for what he buys and to accept the buyers' prices for what he sells."

"We cannot afford to fail in this movement—and we will NOT fail. This is a mere business proposition. The crop should be held by the co-operative organization and fed to the market, just as slowly or as rapidly as the market demands. Heretofore, the farmer has dumped his tobacco on the floors of the warehouses, and has of necessity accepted any price the manufacturer agreed to give for it."

"The manufacturer is not to blame. It is only reasonable that he should buy tobacco as cheaply as possible, and sell it for as high a price as possible. It is up to the farmer to remedy the deplorable conditions by effecting an organization so strong that the growers will be in position to fix a reasonable market value for their tobacco."

"The banks are behind this movement, principally for the reason that under this organization the banks would have tangible collateral in warehouses to secure their loans to the farmers. The Federal Reserve Board and the War Finance Corporation stand ready to lend financial support to the organized growers, while the individual farmer cannot hope for assistance from these sources."

"That millions of pounds of tobacco are added in pledges every few days in the present campaign clearly demonstrates that the growers are becoming awakened to the conditions, and cognizant of the practicability of the proposed marketing plan. There will be no organization until the 75 per cent of the acreage is pledged to the movement. This goal will be attained, but it will take earnest and concerted effort in every county in the burley tobacco area."

"A real calamity would threaten the tobacco industry of this state should the plan fail. This is not a 'one man fight,' but a problem for all the growers all over the district. The education of little children is dependent on the outcome. There is not a merchant or professional man in the district whose prosperity would continue if the plan for a stabilized tobacco market should fail to go through."

"There is no doubt as to the soundness of the plan. Among the ablest bankers and other financiers of the country have given it unqualified approval and support. It offers a beacon of hope to the farmers who are oppressed by the heavy debts incurred by the purchase of high-priced lands and the deplorable slump in the tobacco market. There are now more mortgages on lands in the burley district, more money owing to merchants and banks and few comforts and advantages in the homes of the growers than ever before in the history of the tobacco raising industry."

mer as a reward for his time and untiring labor. The manufacturers reported to the government a profit of $45,000,000 last year, and a conservative estimate on this year's profit will be over 125,000,000. And yet the tobacco growers, who make possible these vast profits for the big manufacturing corporations, are facing debt and in many cases the direst poverty.

"Now is the time for the farmers to act together in an intelligent and business-like manner. Imagine the merchants and business men dumping their wares on one great floor and humbly offering to accept any price the buyers would pay. They would be no bigger fools than the farmers who deliver their tobacco at the warehouses and accept the price offered by the manufacturers' representatives."

"We want you to take stock in the marketing corporation to the extent of growing tobacco, and then electing fair, level-headed directors who will have sense enough to market the crop in an intelligent manner. The manufacturers need tobacco. They have to have it, or go out of business. Then, the logical conclusion is that they will be forced to buy the tobacco held by the organization at a price fixed by the growers themselves."

Mr. Stone said that when 75 per cent of the crop was signed up, the permanent organization would be formed with 22 directors elected by the growers themselves to handle their business. He said that the growers would be in charge of their own business, and that there would be "no chance for anybody to graft anything off of you." He said the tobacco manufacturers were not actively opposing the movement, but that they could hardly be expected to aid it. "The growers would have to do this thing themselves."

Mr. Stone said he would have no connection with the movement if it took away any man's property or injured his investment, and for that reason he favored the plan for the purchase of the necessary real estate to carry on permanently the marketing business of the burley tobacco growers.

Mr. Stone explained the plan for the purchase of receiving plants at some length, showing that in five years these plants would belong to the grower in proportion to the amount of tobacco he raised and delivered and that in the meantime the cost of marketing his tobacco would be reduced one-half from the cost under the old system.

Mr. Stone said the plan for the marketing tobacco was no new scheme. It had been in use in this country, he said, for twenty years and had proved a success. It had been a success in Europe, he said, for fifty years, and so the Kentucky tobacco growers were not being asked to adopt an untried or untested plan, but one which had demonstrated itself to be thoroughly feasible and practical.

Declaring that there were thousands of men in Kentucky who not only could not pay their debts or even the interest on their debts this year, Mr. Stone asked: "What are you going to do about it, if you do not do something to get a better price for your tobacco this year? I tell you we shall be in a perfectly terrible situation in Kentucky, if we do not have the good sense to get together and fix a fair price on our own products."

Mr. Stone said that in the old days the producer of dried fruit in California got 8 cents out of each consumer's dollar. Now they get 48 cents. He said the farmers of Kentucky now are getting about 8 1-2 cents out of each dollar the consumer pays. "Think what it would mean," he said, "if that were 48 cents now in Kentucky!"

"But isn't so much the money after all," Mr. Stone said, "that has interested men in this movement, as the good schools, the good roads, the good church buildings, the comforts of happy and prosperous homes that will come as a result of this plan if you adopt it. Will you try it?"

BATTLE ROYAL TO BE DECIDED TUESDAY

Democrats and Republicans of County Working Hard Right Up To Election Day

By the time this is read by most of the Daily Register readers, the hottest county campaign that has been seen in years will be over and the voters ready to go to the polls Tuesday to register their preferences.

The big crowd here court day seethed with politics and tobacco talk. Workers of both parties were mighty busy all day long, with their supporters and the candidates were as busy as bird dogs. Both sides are claiming victory. A prominent republican said he expected his party to come to town with 300 majority and it was up to what the democrats were able to do in town. On the other hand many democrats expect to make a better showing than that out in the county. The democrats have been working with the utmost energy to make up for the big loss they sustained in the voiding of absent voters' law, and they aren't going to admit defeat till the final count shows it, if it ever does, and many do not believe it ever will.

Anyway, it's a battle royal, and won't be decided until the final ballot is put in the ballot box at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

BOTH CLAIM VICTORY IN LOUISVILLE ELECTION

(By Associated Press)
Louisville, Nov. 7.—Both campaign managers made statements today with reference to the result of the election in Louisville tomorrow. Allen P. Dodd, for the democrats said "We rest the case with the people and are confident of their verdict."

Charles H. Moorman said: "Judge Quinn, the republican candidate, will be the next mayor by a majority of 13,000 to 15,000." The campaign which has been heated, centers about Overton Harris, democratic nominee for mayor, and Quinn, his republican opponent.

Following reports that there would be trouble at the polls in Louisville on election day, Judge Robert W. Bingham protested to the mayor. A citizens' committee was named to preserve order and 2,000 billies were surrendered by the republican workers and 500 came by the democrats.

CAME 400 MILES TO VOTE UNDER ROOSTER

Perhaps the longest trip "back home" to vote was taken by Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Bruner, of Eastern Normal faculty. They got in from Alton, Ill., north of St. Louis at noon Monday. They had ridden a distance of 400 miles to cast their ballots for the splendiferous ticket which the democrats are offering to the voters of Madison county.

Both Dr. and Mrs. Bruner were given cordial greetings by their many friends at home here.

BIG COAL STRIKE IN BALANCE TONIGHT

Pittsburgh, Nov. 7.—Whether the strike order affecting 40,000 miners in District No. 5 become effective at midnight tonight depends upon the action of the Pittsburgh coal producers, it was asserted late today. Union officials said they could call off the strike quickly if the operators decided to continue collect of the "check off." Operators refused to forecast their action.

SMALL OUTBREAK IN FRANKFORT PEN

(By Associated Press)
Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 7.—Warden H. V. Bastin today denied published reports there had been a riot in the state reformatory here Sunday. He said there was a small outbreak, involving four convicts in which two guards and a trusty were slightly injured. They were unable to identify their assailants. The outbreak is being investigated.

According to Warden Bastin, the men implicated in the outbreak were Irvin Anderson, John H. Wiseman, and W. T. Jones, all from Louisville, and Lee Goins, from Boone county. All are charged with robbery. Wiseman also is charged with murder.

AMENDMENTS WILL LOSE IN MADISON

Notwithstanding their differences over local affairs, and the control of the county officials, most of the democrats and republicans of Madison county are agreed in their opposition to the two school amendments. Predictions are being freely made that Madison will give a majority of four or five to one against the two amendments. Every effort has been made by the leaders favoring them to turn Madison, but the sentiment here seems overwhelmingly against them. On account of the interest in the county races it is expected that many voters may overlook the two amendments on the right of the ballot.

THREE WILLS GO TO RECORD IN COURT

Three wills were probated in county court Monday morning. The will of Mrs. Elizabeth Hanger divides her estate among her three children, Harry B. Hanger, Jr., Arnold Hanger, and Miss Elizabeth Hanger. The will was written March 17, 1921, and it was witnessed by W. S. Mobery and Miss Margaret Parrish. In addition to the bequests to her family, Mrs. Hanger left $100 to the Cecilia Club of this city and $100 to the Science Hill school. "both to be used for some worthy music student." The State Bank & Trust Co. of this city, is named as executor of the will.

The will of Thomas Jackson Smith divides his property among his wife and his children, G. Murray Smith, J. H. Smith and Mrs. A. K. Denny. The will was written June 14, 1921 and was witnessed by H. C. Rice and Miss Marianne Collins. The two sons are named as executors.

The will of Perry C. Bogie, written Jan. 27, 1904, gives his property to his wife during her life and after her death to their children. Witnesses to the will are J. B. Walker and Collins Coy.

CLARK BOOSTERS WORK FOR POOL

Clark county sent an enthusiastic band of boosters for the Burley Association to Richmond Monday and they put in some strong licks and made a lot of converts for the pooling plan. The Clark county visitors wore red badges and knew what they were talking about in their arguments. Clark has gone "over the top" in the pooling campaign.

The crowd which heard James C. Stone at the court house at 1:30 o'clock filled the lower court room to its utmost capacity. He was given the most careful attention. Judge W. R. Shackelford introduced Mr. Stone.

Tammany Fighting for Life

New York, Nov. 7.—The question to be answered by the ballots in the city election November 8, is whether the Tammany tiger shall purr contentedly in City Hall for another four years, or whether his would-be tamers, the Republicans and Coalitionists will twist his tail and drive him to the seclusion of the wigwag in Fourteenth street. It has agitated all New York since early summer.

GARRARD MAY HOLD KEY TO STATE SENATE

Control of Upper House of Legislature May Depend On Election There Tuesday

Political control of the next State Senate may depend upon the result in Garrard county, said Saturday's Louisville Times. According to Democrats in a position to know the party situation never was better in Garrard and the Democrats confidently claim it will give a majority to J. E. Robinson, party candidate for State Senate, and elect a Democratic Representative to the Legislature. Garrard is one county in which the Republicans have concentrated their fight and being normally Republican they have exerted every effort to profit by the advantage. All hands admit that the finish will be close.

In the hope of swinging the Eighteenth Senatorial District, Casey county, reliably Republican, has been made battle ground in the campaign. The Democrats have put up a strong ticket for the county offices and this has involved the situation for the Republicans. Casey county has elected Democrats to county offices and the Democrats express confidence not only in electing some of the county nominees, but in holding down the Republican majority in the senatorial race. If this is done Robinson will be an easy winner for Senator.

The practical certainty that the Democrats will carry the House and organize the lower branch of the Legislature means that there will be an old-time scramble for the House jobs that two years ago went to the Republicans for the second time in the history of the State. Indications are that nearly every Democratic representative that goes to Frankfort will have a candidate for a legislative job. Spirit contests are promised for the choice berths including two clerkships, Sergeant-at-Arms and Doorkeeper.

PROMINENT STANFORD MAN'S CLOSE CALL

News has been received by relatives here of the serious injury sustained by John S. Baughman, prominent miller of Stanford, Saturday. His car was struck by a Cincinnati Southern train at a crossing near McKinney, in the southern section of Lincoln county. Just before the train struck the car, Mr. Baughman jumped, and thus escaped what might have been instant death. As it was, he was struck a glancing blow, a severe cut made in his head, and it is believed several ribs are broken. He was picked up by the train crew and taken to the hospital at Danville, where he is receiving every possible medical attention. Fears are entertained that he may be internally injured. Mr. Baughman was returning to Stanford from Casey county where he owns a farm. The car stalled on the railroad track. It was smashed into kindling wood. Mr. Baughman is a brother of Mrs. S. M. Sauley, of this city. His wife is a sister of R. L. Bruce, who married Miss Bessie Turley, of Richmond.

They are George Colvin, 1895, state superintendent of public instruction; Dr. "Johnnie" Atchinson, 1898, former president of the Kentucky College for Women and present president of the Pittsburgh College for Women, and Dr. Paul Oliver Barnhill, 1900, pastor of the Marble Collegiate church, New York. Mr. Colvin was the "Bo" McMillin of the Centre football team during his years at college.

MANY SUBSCRIBING FOR 5 OR 10 YEARS

And Workers For The Big Automobiles and Other Prizes
Have Fine Opportunity

All candidates in the Daily Register contest are requested to make a report twice a week and to turn in what subscriptions they may have collected. This is a race for workers. An inactive candidate will be dropped after this week. So be sure and make a report by Thursday afternoon, no matter what it is, big or little, for we want to know that you are interested in the race and are really trying for the splendid prizes.

On Thursday at 5 p. m. is the end of the race for the three cash prizes to be given for the three leading candidates in cash subscriptions. This money will be given you on Saturday at the Daily Register office.

Make an Effort
There can be no return without an effort—some one said many moons ago. Nor can you rest under your own vine or fig tree expecting these perfectly fine new automobiles to roll up to you. If you want one of them, or any of the grand prizes, the Daily Register is going to give away, you must work for it—and the time in which to work is now upon you—the opportune time. Each day this time is growing shorter and shorter.

The weather has been ideal. Also your telephone service is good, so make a long list of your friends you haven't seen and of those who have promised to subscribe a little later. See in person those you can, telephone all you have a chance to, and make an appointment; then as soon as possible see all of those and ask them to make good their promises. Write out your receipt for money you receive from one to ten years for them. Just lots of them will subscribe for five years and some for ten years, just for the asking. Don't stop at one little year's subscription. Tell them you want five or ten years' subscription and they will take it. All you have to do is tell them you want it. One man said last week he only wanted the Daily Register one year as the price would be less next year. In case you see this one man, as there is only one in the county, you tell him that maybe his great grandchildren may get the Daily Register for less than he is paying for it, but the price won't be reduced in less than ten years, if then.

Now candidates, listen to this, November is upon him. This campaign closes in December. You have four weeks before you to win an automobile. You can earn $250 a week for the next four weeks by putting your shoulder to the wheel and pushing hard. As this campaign is beginning to warm up, the hustling candidates have realized that November is the month to win, and they are now down to hard work, as we have fifteen or twenty that are now running neck and neck. Each week they change positions in the line. Today should make a big change in the list as there is a large crowd in town and the candidates are working hard and we have some ten or fifteen new candidates in the field who are making a good showing, and before the week ends will be running some of the leaders a hard race.

See how many subscriptions you can turn in to this office by next Thursday afternoon and be one of the winners in the cash prizes to be given away Saturday at noon.

Life of Livestock Industry Menaced

W. S. Bell, president of the Louisville Livestock Exchange, said in an appeal to C. C. McChord, acting chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission, to bring his influence to bear to secure a reduction in freight rates on livestock.

"The livestock industry of the South is in the most precarious condition ever known," Mr. Bell said. "Ducks and guinea fowls in Kentucky also increased during the decade. The number of ducks increased from 98,706 to 99,577, while the number of guinea fowls increased from 46,721 to 74,698.

Turkeys, geese and pigeons in Kentucky, on the other hand, decreased during the ten year period. The number of turkeys declined from 188,292 in 1910 to 168,326 in 1920; geese from 399,932 to 177,420, and pigeons from 29,613 to 22,612.

KEEPS TABS ON THOSE WHO MOVE

People of Birmingham Cannot Escape Bills and Rent by Old Expedient.

MUST REPORT ALL TRANSFERS

Ordinance Requires Owners of Vans or Other Vehicles to Report All Moving to Police—Helpful to Authorities.

Birmingham, Ala.—Those who find it cheaper to move than to pay rent or meet other bills, are pretty well reformed in this city, or are in process of being weeded out in either case by means of an ordinance so riveted that offenders cannot escape. The ordinance requires the owner of every transfer or other vehicle to report promptly all moving to the chief of police, and entries of the same are at once made in a book daily alphabetized and dated, and the book is always open for the inspection of any and everyone who may ask to see it.

Of course one who plans to turn delinquent will try to conceal his identity while in the act of moving, but the ordinance makers foresaw that impulse and attached penalties for false names or misleading reports. They fairly shut out that form of delinquency. Altogether the ordinance has worked so well that Birmingham has been solicited by other cities for copies of the act and for the experiences under it which have made it a magic cure for bill-evasion. It is a fixture in Birmingham, for it has been in force since March of 1913.

Generally helpful. Its enactment came about in that year through the Retail Furniture Dealers' association. At the ensuing election it had an able champion in Commissioner of Public Safety Arlie Barber, who thoroughly believed in it and kept everybody concerned up to the scratch. He found that some of the colored landladies had a fashion of suddenly changing their addresses when well stocked with the linen of their clients; that in some districts overdue gas bills gave sufficient cause for families to vacate quarters, and delinquents for rent and for tradesmen's accounts were common in all districts. The telephone company had occasion to compliment the commissioner on the accuracy and completeness of the records in the book of the chief of police, for in one case the company escaped damages for non-delivery of a message, in a suit in which the person addressed had moved, but claimed to be living in his old home at the time of the message. His claim was thrown out of court by the evidence of the chief's records.

Furniture dealers who had been behind the original enactment soon found their troubles eased by it, and finally they were almost without bad bills.

Police Are Benefited

In the time the detective department of the city benefited by the ordinance for it enabled them to locate undesirable, bootleggers, bond-stippers and the kind of women who scattered themselves over the city after the abolishment of the old red-light district.

Once there was a concerted attempt by the transfer warehousemen to undo the ordinance. They obtained a restraining injunction against its enforcement, and went into court on the issue of constitutionality. The Supreme court ruled that it was both constitutional and reasonable. Minor changes were made in it, not interfering at all with its efficiency, and it is here to stay, with the approval of every reputable interest.

EXTEND PACIFIC OIL FIELDS

Prospectors Plan Development Under Australian Mandate—Several Parties in Field.

Sydney, N. S. W.—The search for oil which has been going on with meager results for years in the large island of Papua has been extended to the portion known as German New Guinea, where it is said there are much better indications. This territory is now under Australian mandate.

Experts of the Anglo-Persian Oil company, which has an agreement with the commonwealth by which each will share in the benefits of any discovery, are prospecting thoroughly. Several private parties also are in the field.

Oil prospecting is being retarded, however, because the Australian government has not decided on a land policy for mandated territories.

Markwood came to Breckenridge from his home at Necessity and surrendered after a fellow moonshiner had been arrested.

Gilbert Pags Republicans

Congressman Ralph Gilbert, Eighth district, who has been making Democratic campaign speeches in the State, aroused the ire of the Republicans by his strictures on that party in an address at Owensboro. Mr. Gilbert declared that a vote for any Republican would be an endorsement of the wiggly and wobbly Harding administration, the pitifully inefficient Morrow administration at Frankfort, and the rotten Smith administration in Louisville. Each of them, he declared, had betrayed every pledge made to the people.

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

A Correction

The Social Editor of the Daily Register is glad to correct the statement made of the West-Lowry wedding on Thursday. She was misinformed and the error is gladly corrected and publishes this statement in justice to Miss West, who has numerous friends in Richmond.

Calendar

The Sue Douglas Community Club will hold its regular meeting Tuesday evening at 7:15 in Christian church. A full attendance is desired as this is the first anniversary of the club and a delightful evening has been planned.

Pigg-Stevenson

Miss Lou Pigg, of Red House, and Mr. Zebeck William Stevenson, of Cincinnati, were married Sunday afternoon at the residence of the officiating minister, Dr. O. Olin Green, on Second street. After the ceremony they left for an extended wedding trip to Washington City, Canada and many other places of interest. On their return they will make their home in Cincinnati.

Reception

The afternoon was a radiant one for Miss Scott, the popular and highly appreciated superintendent of our hospital. Mrs. Burnam, hostess and president of the Hospital Association, Mrs. Grider, president of the Hospital board, and the large number of friends who attended the reception given Thursday in recognition of the tenth anniversary of Miss Scott's generous and untiring works at the Pattie A. Clay hospital. Never has there been a more admired guest of honor than was she. Everyone present vied with one another in bestowing admiration and affection upon her. Those of the invited guests who were unable to be present in the afternoon regretted the fact and did not fail to express their appreciation of one whom they had grown to know on account of her good works, kindly nature and scientific knowledge. The guests were received in the music room by Mrs. Burnam, Miss Scott and Mrs. Grider, after which they were entertained with visiting among their many friends before going to the dining room where ices and cake were served. The spaciousness of Mrs. Burnam's hospitable home was filled with guests for the happy occasion and the entire atmosphere was that of appreciation of the good work that has been accomplished during the past ten years for the sick and suffering of our community. Miss Scott was assured of a much greater ovation if she will remain with us for another ten years at the end of which time what shall we not have accomplished.

Board Meeting Music Clubs

The first board meeting of the Kentucky Federation of Music Clubs was held Saturday afternoon in the parlors of the Phoenix hotel at Lexington, with Mrs. B. L. Middleton, of Richmond, first vice president, in the chair. Mrs. Harvey Chenault, of Richmond, acted secretary. After the reading of the minutes of the convention held in Richmond in May, the vote was taken by ballot, and Mrs. D. E. Fogel, of Georgetown, was elected president of the Federation to succeed Mrs. Sam Halley, who resigned on account of illness in her family.

Miss Myrtle Kesheimer was appointed chairman of the contest committee and Mrs. G. W. Pickels, chairman of publicity, was instructed to put into form a directory including all officers, chairmen of committees and presidents and secretaries of each club belonging to the Federation. This, together with the Constitution and By-Laws were ordered sent to each member of the board and to each club in the state organization.

The state meeting is to be held at the invitation of the McDowell Club in Lexington in April and the president of the Dixie district, Mrs. John Lamar Meek, of Chattanooga, has forwarded her message that she is expecting to be present on this occasion.

Several matters of business were discussed and at the close of the session Mrs. Middleton suggested a brief memorial for Enrico Caruso, and some very tender sentiments were expressed in regard to the great tenor. David Bispham and Jessie Gaynor were also mentioned as a great loss to America's music world. At four o'clock the meeting was adjourned to attend a recital at the Woman's Club, including a program given by the noted pianist, Mr. Alexander Gunn assisted by Mme. Lapin, the noted Metropolitan contralto, now of Louisville Conservatory.

It was truly an Artists' Concert and was enjoyed by an audience at once sympathetic and appreciative. The Ampico Reproducing piano, which Mr. Gunn brought with him from Louisville, was indeed an attractive novelty. Quite a number of out-of-town guests were present and the social hour over the tea-cups closed a full afternoon of musical happenings.

HERMIT LIVES NINETY YEARS

Missouri Woman Had Never Ridden on a Railroad or Visited a Large Town.

HAD SIMPLE RULES OF LIFE

"Have Something to Interest You and Keep Going—Learn to Go to Sleep Easily and Don't Borrow Trouble."

Macon, Mo.—Ninety years in the back country of Missouri without ever having ridden in a railroad train or visited a town larger than Liberty, Huntville or Macon, was the record of "Aunt Betty" Elliott, whose death occurred recently at the home of her sister, Mrs. S. B. Rice, six miles west of Jacksonville.

Miss Elliott was one of a very interesting trio, the other two being her brothers, Perry and Jordan Elliott, who died a few years ago. All their lives they had lived upon the land which was taken up by their father, William Elliott, when he came from Kentucky to northern Missouri in 1816. After the death of their parents and the marriage of the younger children, Miss Elliott and her two brothers lived on the old homestead, carrying on their farming operations and duties about the house in the same primitive manner as conducted by their parents in the pioneer days.

Had One Ride in a Motor Car.

Miss Elliott once enjoyed the experience of riding in a motor car. She said she got as far as College Mound when something about it went dead and they had to hitch on a couple of mules to haul them back home. She never cared much for motor cars since then.

The Elliott brothers developed the estate until it comprised about 2000 acres, and although in the heart of the very richest growing section of Missouri, much of it was rough pasture land. For a great many years the farm was inclosed with rail fences, which as time went by sank far into the ground. The fencing around this farm marks almost the last of the old rail fences in northern Missouri. None of the three had counted time in their long lives to go to school, but they knew the value of stock and grain and were as shrewd in their deals as anybody. Underneath a large part of their land are valuable beds of coal.

"Fight shy of doctors and medicine. Have something to interest you and keep going. Learn to go to sleep easily, and don't borrow trouble. Get out in the air and raise turkeys, ducks and chickens. Eat hearty and go to bed early."

That was the rule of "Aunt Betty."

Scorned Luxury for Simple Life. Fourteen years ago a correspondent visited the Elliott trio and spent a day with "the children of nature," who scorned luxuries to live the simple life of their parents, pioneers of Missouri. There the correspondent found a leaky house, built by their parents; a part of which was begun the year after the Civil war and never had been completed, and three "children," all more than seventy, who never had had time to even think about marriage. The only thing modern on the farm was a nice-looking range in the kitchen which the boys had purchased for "Aunt Betty."

Late in the evening the two "boys" returned to the house. All talk in gentle, quiet tones. In brief they outlined their lives as follows:

Never too old to work.
Never had a quarrel with anybody.
Never skipped a horse.
Never owned a dog.
Never use tobacco in any form.
Never belonged to a church, but believed in God.
Never were in a lawsuit.
Never knew the extent of their wealth.
Kept their accounts with pins or shingles.
What was good enough for their forefathers was good enough for them.

BAHAMAS' CENSUS SLUMPS

Reports Show 5.2 Per Cent Decrease Since 1911—Bimini Islands Show Gain.

Nassau, Bahamas.—The Bahamas islands, the British colony lying off the Atlantic coast, show a decrease in population during the last ten years, principally on account of emigration to Florida. This is the first decline in numbers in the recorded history of the colony.

The census just announced places the population at 55,944, which marks a decrease of 2,913, or 5.2 per cent since 1911. Demand for labor in the United States is regarded as the cause.

The Bimini Islands, where much liquor was sent from the United States when it went dry, has a population of 610 people, an increase of 134 in the ten years.

Stories of Great Scouts

OLD JIM BRIDGER, TELLER OF
"TALL YARNS"

"Yes sir, up there in the Yellowstone I seed petrified trees a-growin' with petrified birds on 'em a-singin' petrified songs," once declared old Jim Bridger, scout, trapper and fur trader. He was one of the first white men to visit the natural wonders of what is now Yellowstone National park.

After his return he gave an account of what he had seen to an eastern magazine writer. Two of the writer's articles were published. Then the editor refused to print any more, saying that his readers would not believe such Baron Munchausen tales. Everything the old trapper had told the magazine writer was true, and when Bridger found that his stories were no longer believed, he began telling other yarns which did not always stick so closely to the truth.

One day in the Yellowstone, he said, he came upon an elk grazing within easy gun range. He fired, but the elk neither dropped nor seemed alarmed by the shot. The scout reloaded and fired again with the same result. Then he became angry. Picking up a rock, he threw it at the animal. The rock struck some invisible barrier and dropped to the ground. When Bridger reached the place where it lay he found that he had been shooting at the elk through a mountain of perfectly transparent crystal.

Bridger was the first white man to see the Great Salt Lake in Utah. This was in 1823, and he told some wonderful stories about the lake. One of them was about the great snowfall in the winter of 1830, which covered the whole Salt Lake valley to a depth of 70 feet. All of the buffalo perished.

"When spring came, all I had to do was to tumble 'em into the lake and I had enough pickled buffalo for myself and the whole Utah nation for years," Bridger declared.

Bridger was known as "Old Gabe," or "The Old Man of the Mountains" by his fellow trappers, and the Crow Indians called him "Cotany—the Blanket Chief."

"General, what you don't see no Indians, that they're settin' to be thick-est," he once told Gen. Henry Carrington, and the general found it good advice. When the engineers for the Union Pacific railroad were uncertain about the easiest route through the Rocky mountains, they sent for Old Jim. He took a piece of old brown paper and with a piece of charcoal marked the route which they were to follow. Later they found that he had not made a single mistake in mapping the route. Bridger died in 1831, and is buried in Kansas City.

MAY USE MAGNET TO RAISE SHIPS

Submarine Invention Passes Salvage Test of the British Admiralty.

LIFTS 16 TONS OF METAL

Believed That Much of Steel and Metals Lost Through Operations of German Submarines May Be Recovered.

London.—Fishing with submarine magnets for allied ships which strew the bottom of the North sea and the English channel may be attempted on a large scale in the near future if an invention recently placed at the disposal of the British admiralty proves to be practicable in deep-sea salvage operations. It is believed that the device may recover much of the loss in steel and metals caused by the submarines. It is also probable that it may, to some extent, replace the deep-sea diver.

Will Lift 16 Tons.
The "submarine electro-magnet" is pentagonal in shape, three feet in width between the opposite sides, two and a half inches in depth, weighs seven hundredweight, and is strong enough to lift 16 tons of metal. In salvage work three magnets will be employed simultaneously, in order to get a good hold on the larger sections of armor plate.

Giantlike searchlights will first be turned on the wreck, and after the vessel has been blown to pieces by explosives the magnets will go down to search for anchors, chain cables and pieces of metal. The power will be sufficient to raise all fragments of metal, even though they be encased in wood.

The mechanical diver's possibilities were demonstrated recently at an exhibition at the Albert docks, Silver- town, attended by representatives of the British admiralty, the Port of London authority and the salvage and shipbuilding companies. Into 33 feet of water were thrown several steel cylinders, castings, a section of railway switch and other metallic objects.

Brought Up Girders.
Swung by a crane, the magnet dived and, to the amazement of the witnesses, came up with the steel girders glued to its under side. The operation was repeated until the last piece of metal had been raised.

At one stage of the demonstration there was lively competition between a human diver and the diving magnet. The steel railway switch, owing to its peculiar shape, could not be located until a diver had gone down and placed the magnet in contact with the rails. "The magnet is not intended to supplant divers," said Mr. Neale, head of the Neale Magnet Construction company, in charge of the development of the invention. "It will be of value chiefly in cases of wrecks in deep water or silted up, where divers cannot go."

"It will also be used for loading and unloading vessels, discharging metal- lices, lifting machinery and loading steel sections from rolling mills. A current of 16 amperes, at a pressure of 220 volts, supplies the power."

FISH WITHOUT MOUTH CAUGHT

Peculiar Specimen Found in Missouri
Also Mouthless, but Weighed Five Pounds.

Kennett, Mo.—Going through life without a mouth or rather with your mouth grown shut would be a sad experience for anybody of the human race, but E. D. Poe, a blacksmith of this city, has just caught a fish that was thus afflicted. Poe got the unusual specimen of the funny tribe while on an outing at what is known as "Tear Blanks," on the Varney river. It was a five-pound buffalo that had no sign of a mouth.

The fish had the appearance of hav- ing had its mouth and nose bitten off up to and just below the eyes, and in the process of healing the wound grew entirely shut. With this excep- tion the fish was a fine specimen and apparently was not handicapped by its strange deformity or affliction. Poe put the fish in a tank of water and it swam around just like any other fish. It seemed to have worked out a scheme of letting water through one set of gills and out the other.

'CORPSE' TAPS ON COFFIN LID

Japanese Woman Supposed to Be Dead Is Removed From Coffin
and Lives Two Days Longer.

Tokyo.—The story of a woman who knocked on the lid of her coffin after it had been prepared and sealed for burial has been revealed by the Japan Times and Mail.

It is stated that the woman ap- parently died one morning and ar- rangements were immediately made for the funeral. Priests were sent for and the usual service read over the coffin.

Suddenly the priests and others heard a feeble knocking inside the coffin. The lid was removed and the mourners found that the woman was alive. They called her name. She replied, "I am thirsty. Give me some water." Water was given and she was removed to her bed, but died two days later.

WESTERN ELEVEN DEFEATS EASTERN

Western State Normal avenged the two foot ball defeats of their last meeting with Eastern Normal by defeating Eastern on the Bowling Green gridiron by a score of 21 to 0 Saturday. Athletic relations between the two schools were resumed with this game and many interesting contests are expected between the two rivals in the near future. Their last foot ball meeting was in 1916 when Eastern won both games from the representative of Western Kentucky.

This time, however, the story was quite a different one. The Western team outwitted the locals 25 pounds to the man and won by straight football. Western kicked off to Eastern and Joe Berman received the ball on the ten yard line and carried the oval to Western's two-yard line. This long run of 88 yards was useless as the locals could not shove the pigskin across. Eastern outplayed the enemy in the first quarter by a wide margin, but weight began to tell in the second period and the Western warriors marched for a touchdown.

The boys on the side line said that the game was one of the dearest that they had ever witnessed and the treatment that Eastern received at Bowling Green by the people as well as the students was fit for a king. The Western eleven are confined under strict athletic rules and they look to be of real college material. They, however, need hours of practice to become a well polished aggregation. Besides the American Legion game this week, Eastern officials are trying to book a game with either the Freshmen or Junior teams of the University of Kentucky. An effort to secure another game with Kentucky Wesleyan is also on foot.

Grain Gambling Law Goes To Supreme Court

(By Associated Press)
Chicago, Nov. 7.—A temporary injunction seeking to prevent the Capper grain exchange regulation bill going into effect was dismissed in federal court here today by Judge Landis. John Hill, Jr., who questions the constitutionality of the bill, was allowed two weeks to carry the case to the Supreme Court.

"I'm convinced if I had taken Tanlac two years ago, when my troubles first began, I would have been saved a world of suffering," said Ed W. Field, 538 Jefferson St., Milwaukee, Wis.

"My case proved that when a man's stomach goes wrong, everything goes wrong with him. The first thing I noticed out of the way was loss of appetite, and next, that no matter how sparingly I ate, I was sure to have an attack of indigestion. This was two years ago and from that time on, until after I started on Tanlac, I kept going down hill at a steady rate. I finally got so I couldn't walk a couple of blocks without having to stop and rest and I was so nervous that often I sat up in a chair all night long. "Tanalac has made a new man out of me, my stomach is as sound as a dollar and I feel fine all the time. I am a firm believer in Tanlac because I know it delivers the goods."

Tanalac is sold in Richmond by Stockton and Son and druggists everywhere.

SWIFT'S PRODUCE REVIEW

On account of fine weather, good pasturage, and forage crops a larger amount of cream has been delivered during the week than the corresponding week a year ago, with markets closing easier on butter. If this condition continues, lower prices may be expected.

Fresh eggs continue in light supply, high prices being paid for good quality.

There is every indication that a large crop of poultry will be marketed. Receipts are larger than required for current use, and the surplus is being placed in storage.

Vote Early

The supporters of the Democratic ticket will contribute to the success of the ticket by voting early.

Remember that the polls close promptly at 4 o'clock

The city of Richmond is the stronghold of Democracy in Madison county and it is necessary for the City precincts to poll the full registered Democratic vote in order to insure Democratic success tomorrow

In the City Hall and Court House Precincts there must be one vote cast a minute in order for everybody to vote. In the other City Precincts, the congestion is almost equal to that of City Hall and Court House.
